Highway 35 shopping complex gets green light

Minden may have a new grocery store and shopping complex on Highway 35 by May 24.

A major hurdle in plans to establish the store was passed February 27 when Anson, Hindon and Minden council approved the issuing of a building permit to an Oshawa developer. The approval came on a close 2-1 vote with two members of the council claiming a conflict of interest and not voting.

The proposal was presented to council by Daniel Lang of Daniel Lang Developments Limited. He outlined his plans to enlarge the present showroom area of the Peterborough Lumber store and locate a Red and White grocery store in the building. The area which now serves as a lumber warehouse will be converted to accommodate the Peterborough Lumber store and a smaller retail operation, yet to be named, will occupy an area between these two stores.

Rumours of the sale of the property and the development of the grocery store-shopping complex have been circulating in the community for more than a month. However, this was the first official confirmation of the proposal.

Lang said the plans for the structure include a 5000 square foot expansion to the front portion of the building providing a total area of 10,000 square feet for the grocery store. The Peterborough Lumber store would occupy 3600 square feet while the middle business would include 2200 square feet. The developer said that several tenants have indicated an interest in the central retail area but no contracts have been signed for the space.

While National Grocers, the parent firm of Red and White food markets, has indicated a strong interest in the proposal, no formal commitments have been signed as yet. It is presumed however that now the developer has the go ahead to make alterations to the building from the municipality, that agreement will be reached quickly. The developer indicated that the owners of the grocery chain, if they decided to occupy the building, wanted to be in operation by May of this year, the traditional start of the busy summer tourist season.

The owner of the Red and White grocery store on Main Street, Al Coneybeare, indicated it was too early for him to comment on his participation in the new grocery store. He said that once the contract between Red and White and the developer is signed he will have first opportunity to indicate his desire to participate in the new store. Apparently Mike Easton, owner of the Red and White store in Haliburton, has indicated an interest in the store as well.

In presenting his proposal to council, Lang indicated that the project conformed with the township's zoning regulations, as the area is zoned commercial. He pointed out that the matter was being brought to the council because of a clause in the original building permit issued to Peterborough Lumber which stated that any change in the use of the building would require township council's approval.

The developer told the council that approval had been received from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for the shopping complex to be created there. MTC approval is required because access to the property is from Highway 35. Lang said that a parking area of 25,000 square feet would be provided for the shoppers.

The developer said he was aware that the entrance to the parking lot crossed municipi-ally owned property. A 66 foot road allowance was created across the front of the property when the Peterborough Lumber store was first built. This road allowance separates the highway from the PL property. There had been indications that the council might have denied the developer the right to cross this road allowance in an effort to block the shopping complex but no action, other than the mention of it, was made at the Wednesday meeting.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt commented that he would have been happier if the complex had been located in the downtown area of Minden.

Lang responded that he had attempted to find suitable property in the core area of the village but he was unable to locate any suitable vacant property. "We are pleased with the existing building and the owners are willing to accommodate our plans," Lang said. He indicated that his company had been examining property on the by-pass further south but found the PL location to be more suitable.

The Peterborough Lumber Building Centre on Highway 35 may soon be converted to a shopping complex which will include a Red and White store, Peterborough Lumber and an as yet unnamed tenant.

Nesbitt expressed concern over the impact the proposal would have on downtown merchants. He said the only lever the municipality has in directing the development toward the downtown area is the fact the traffic to PL property cross a municipally owned road allowance. It was a lever the council never used.

Following the presentation by the developer, the council went out, meeting was closed to the public as the councillors mulled over the request. Thirty minutes later, when the meeting was re-opened, Doug Pritchard put forward a motion that was seconded by Len Lonsberry granting the building permit to the developer.

Stuart Brandon declared a conflict of interest because he is related to the two potential owners of the Red and White store. Lyle McKnight also withdrew from the voting because the developer had approached him earlier about purchasing land he owned along Highway 35 for a similar development.

Pritchard and Lonsberry voted in favour of the motion. Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, who, under the Ontario Municipal Act has the option of voting, said he wanted his opinion registered in opposition to the idea. The motion passed by a 2-1 margin.

MTC offers advice for roads budget

A Ministry of Transportation and Communications representative has agreed to help Anson, Hindon and Minden council overcome the difficulties it has experienced with its road budget. The promise of help in the form of advice came at the February 27 meeting of the council.

Don Glashan of the MTC met with the council Wednesday evening to discuss various aspects of the municipality's proposed budget and requests for provincial assistance for the coming year. He said he and others from his department would be willing to meet with the council to help the municipality overcome the financial problems it has had in the past.

Last year the maintenance portion of the local road budget was overspent by $40,000. In a dramatic move that highlighted the seriousness of the situation, the entire road crew was laid off last fall for a week. Repeated attempts to obtain additional provincial funds from MTC in the past have proved to be fruitless with the ministry only offering the advice that the municipality must live within its budget.

Councillor Stuart Brandon asked the MTC representative about the overhead charges for the department. "You tell us our overhead is three times what it should be. What is wrong, and how can we improve it?"

Glashan suggested the council compare the overhead for the roads department here with a municipality of similar size to see if the charges are out of line and where economies may be realized. He suggested that the increase in overhead, which took place between 1972-73 and 1974, might have been a result of a change in bookkeeping methods.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt added that the jump may have been the result of "honest

Library funds

The following donations have been received for the Minden library fund.

O. G. Rogers $10; Percy Brintnell $50; G. Kenny $10; M. Thatcher $10; Mr. and Mrs. Hermanas $10; C. Sturge $100; J. C. Strachan $10; F. Waters $100; H. Morgan $150; anonymous, two $5 donations; Read Bro. (York) Ltd. $95; Minden Library Committee $300.53; Hillside Pro Hardware $10.

Several donations to the library fund have also been made as funeral memorials. Len Lonsberry has made nine donations in this way for a total of $100. J. Sears has made two donations for a total of $10.

The total donations reported in The Times to date is $2,766.03.

Chairman sees change coming for association

The opening of a new retail centre on Highway 35 may be the catalyst for reviving and changing the direction of the Minden Business Association, according to the group's chairman Jerry Pillsworth.

The owner of the Stedman's store in Minden said that he could see the organization changing into a group strictly interested in the development and promotion of the downtown area. The potential loss of a grocery store in the downtown has created concern among some merchants in the area.

Pillsworth said the business association, which is having a meeting next week, has suffered from a lack of direction because it was attempting to serve too many interests. "Our interests were in promoting Minden as a place to shop," he commented, "and that often meant the core area was where the attraction or promotion was to be centered." He said that this often left those who were members of the association, but who were operating outside the immediate core of the community, with no means of participation. "We spread ourselves too thin and it never went anywhere," Pillsworth said referring to the association's efforts.

"There are government programs that can assist us in upgrading the downtown area," Pillsworth explained. "They involve the participation of the merchants in a designated area and the municipal council, along with assistance from the province. This is the sort of thing we need in the core area of Minden, but to get it there must be an association dedicated to those ends." Pillsworth suggested that items such as better lighting, sidewalks, the addition of planters, benches and other beautification efforts should be the aim of any downtown organization.

The association chairman said the township council was to blame for lack of development in the downtown area. "We need a plan of development that indicates where we are going," Pillsworth commented. "We need proper off-street parking lots, improved lighting, a regular program of maintaining the downtown as an attractive place to shop." He suggested that the municipality should make an effort to purchase vacant land and make it available for commercial development in blocks large enough to attract developments as big as the one proposed for Highway 35.

Pillsworth said Haliburton Village was an example of where the two main grocery stores are located in the centre of town.

The chairman admitted that the downtown merchants had not been as aggressive as they might have been in promoting the core or in pressing the municipal council for downtown improvements. He said the approval granted Wednesday by the council may provide the merchants with the encouragement needed to get a core area re-development project underway.

Pillsworth said that while the development on the highway may hurt the downtown area, it could prove to be a benefit for the economy of the community. "There are many people who are shopping out of town now," he commented. "Hopefully something like this will change that trend. It's bound to mean more jobs and more money staying in the community," he commented.

A meeting of the Minden Business Association will be held March 13 at the municipal offices.

Hydro objection upheld

An objection by Ontario Hydro representative to a clause in a subdivision agreement endorsed by the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council last year has been sustained and the council has been forced to amend the section.

The clause would have required Ontario Hydro to apply to the municipality for any change to its facilities within the area covered under the subdivision agreement. Since the land in question on Minden Lake is crossed by a major transmission line, the clause could have resulted in extra work for the utility.

An Ontario Hydro spokesman appeared before the council earlier this year to argue against the restriction. He said that before the utility could make any change to its transmission system it would have to comply with the terms of the Environmental Assessment Act (EAA). He said Hydro felt that meeting the EAA standards was adequate and that the restriction placed on the utility by the municipality would only cause needless delay.

The municipal council was told February 27 however, that the Environmental Assessment Act superseded the Planning Act under which the council had first enacted the restriction. The council therefore had no choice but to remove the clause from the agreement.

An argument put forward when the Hydro representative first appeared before council, was reiterated Wednesday evening. Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt said the move will mean that residents in the area will have less clout if they wish to protest any change in the transmission line by Ontario Hydro.

(Under the planning Act the residents could have requested a hearing into any changes proposed by Ontario Hydro. Those residing within 400 feet of those changes would also have been notified of the plans in advance and given the opportunity to object. While the Environmental Assessment Act does provide for public hearings, there is no provisions for notifying adjacent landowners directly about any proposed changes.)

Expansion plans

During his presentation, Lang also suggested the possibility of expanding the complex in two or three year's time. He said the development company will control the four acres of land to the south of the present structure. He said he would consider building another 10,000 square foot structure to the south if the present plans are successful.

The developer said the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, would probably approve such an expansion, but have indicated that traffic lights might be necessary at the Highway 35 - South Water Street intersection if the expansion was to take place.

This suggestion drew the sharpest response from Reeve Nesbitt. "We spent 20 years trying to get the traffic to bypass the town and you want us to believe that lights on the by-pass are not going to add to the congestion," Nesbitt said. He pointed out that the MTC policy for businesses on the highway has been "food, fuel and accommodations" and the proposed use does not fall within these parameters. (The food reference is to food being served for immediate consumption.)

The municipal zoning for the area would permit retail outlets of the kind outlined in Lang's proposal.

The developer said the decision concerning the stop lights at the corner is one that is a long way off and would only be necessary if the expansion to the south of the present structure is carried out.

The motion approving the issuing of a building permit reads as follows:

"Be it resolved that a building permit be issued to Daniel Lang Developments Limited for the proposal presented to expand the present Peterborough Lumber Limited building situate on part Lot 1, Concession 2, Township of Minden by adding 5,000 square feet to the building provided that By-law 14-67 as amended is complied with. Add further that all future expansions, additions or changes in use shall first be approved by Council.

This approval is subject to the approval of the MTC requirements."

HACLD general meeting

The first general meeting of the Haliburton Association for Children with Learning Disabilities was held February 26 in Haliburton. The guest speaker for the evening was Pat Casey, a special education teacher from Lindsay Collegiate and Vocational Institute. His talk to the members dealt with the roles teachers, and especially parents, have in dealing with children with learning disabilities.

Mr. Casey stressed that parents and teachers should each be aware of the whole child's needs and personality, and should set realistic individual expectations of him.

"If knowing the student well makes the teacher better, then parents should be the best teachers", Casey told the gathering. The role of parents is important but paradoxical. The parents should do as much as they can to help their child, but at the same time, do as little as they need to so that the child may learn to work and grow on his own.

In helping parents deal with that apparent conflict, Mr. Casey pointed out that the formal school system is visually-oriented learning so that the child must rely mainly on his eyes to learn and keep pace. The parent, on the other hand, is in the best position to teach the child how to learn not just with his eyes, but with all his senses.

In order to communicate effectively with teachers, Mr. Casey recommended that the parents' message should be "I want you to know my child."

Mr. Casey concluded by reminding parents that they know their children best, and that they shouldn't press the child into things he is not ready for.

Casey also spoke individually to many of the parents and teachers after the meeting.

Somerville council notes

The following are highlights from the February 5 meeting of Somerville Township Council:

-council agreed to consider the possibility of obtaining a used tank truck for the Burnt River fire station.

-payment was approved for repairs to the fence at the cenotaph in Kinmount.

-the council concurred with a resolution from the Village of Madoc that the senior levels of government provide lower interest loans for small business. A second resolution, from the Township of Brock, that the federal government halt any further implementation of the metric system was filed.

-approval was given for a grant of $1711 to the Village of Fenelon Falls for the arena.

-Gordon Carr was appointed to the township's recreation committee.

-application was made for funds under the provincially sponsored Home Renewal Program. In conjunction with this motion, the township agreed to adopt the minimum residential standards as set out by the province.

-Kelly Anderson's application for summer employment was accepted by the council.

bookkeeping. The books now reflect our real costs," the reeve commented. He suggested that the financial records prior to and following the increase in overhead should be examined to determine why it happened.

Nesbitt told the MTC representative that the municipality would require extra funds if it was to get ahead of the deficit situation and continue with road upgrading. "We need a 'catch-up' to help meet these construction expenses," Nesbitt commented. He noted that once a road is re-surfaced the cost of maintenance drops back, resulting in a saving. "At some point in this process the money we are spending for resurfacing should start paying dividends in lower maintenance costs. However, we need the extra funds now to support the resurfacing program." The council has planned to carry out close to three miles of resurfacing this summer.

Glashan told the councillors that there was only a limited amount of supplementary funds available within the district and that these would be allotted to the municipalities who apply on a priority basis. He said that a high priority item, the replacement of a bridge at New Liskeard, took one third of the $3 million supplementary budget last year leaving many other communities without assistance.

Nesbitt also pointed out that the supplementary allotments from MTC are announced in June or July, "...when municipalities are either already committed to a road program or when it is almost too late to take advantage of the funds."

MPP urges support for small businesses

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins has taken a strong stand for small business in the dealings of the Ontario government. In a press release issued last week, the provincial representative noted that the Liquor Control Board of Ontario has an opportunity to support small business and he urged them to do so.

"I am concerned about a contract soon to be awarded by the L.C.B.O. for a system of computerized cash registers," Eakins said. This was reported in the editorial section of a Toronto newspaper earlier this week. The contract will be worth between $10 million and $20 million to one of eight firms who have submitted tenders.

"One of those firms is a small business which apparently is offering 'the right price, advanced technology and an attractive product'. Yet it may not be the successful bidder for the very reason that it is a small business. The L.C.B.O. might award the contract to a larger, more established, firm because it is easier and less risky to deal with a 'sure thing'.

"The L.C.B.O. is an agency of the Provincial Government. If such government bodies are not going to do business with our smaller enterprises, how can we ever expect the private sector to extend a similar preference toward small companies?"

"The Ministry of Industry and Tourism should not have to be a watchdog to ensure that the small businessman is getting his fair share of government contracting and subcontracting. A legislative commitment would guarantee this. That is why I introduced in October of 1977, 'An Act respecting Small Business in Ontario'. That is why I intend to re-introduce it in the upcoming session of the Legislature. When the Act was debated in 1977 it was accepted in principle by all parties of the Legislature, but the present Minister of Industry and Tourism has refused to bring my Act to committee.

"Section 3 of my Act would have ensured that where a small business is offering the same bid as that offered in all other valid tenders, that the bid of the small company

Fire wardens named

Fire wardens for 1980 for the townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden were appointed at the February 27 meeting of council.

The following individuals were appointed to the post: Gordon Darby, Highway 121 and Ingoldsby area; Bruce Nesbitt, Bethel area; Harvey Barnhardt, Pine Springs; Harold Burton, Carnarvon; Allen Austin, Brady Lake; William Jackson, fire chief and Earl Kent, Albert Cox and Dick Schell for the entire municipality.

would be accepted. In other words, the L.C.B.O. example is exactly the kind of situation that my Small Business Act was intended to address.

"The concluding statement of the editorial report summed it up perfectly: 'Industrial strategies don't come about by accident'."

Were You given a rude shake late Friday night as you lay abed?

You might have been and not known about it.

At least two Minden area residents have reported feeling slight tremors Saturday morning between midnight and two o'clock. The sensation was described as a slight shaking with rattling noises.

The phenomenon is believed to have been part of a minor earth quake which was recorded in the Oakville-Burlington area at the same time.

Editorial

A two-edged sword

The introduction of a new business venture into the community has become somewhat of a two-edged sword.

While the township council and the community in general should eagerly welcome any new investment in the area, the potential harm it may do to established businesses and orderly growth in the community should not be ignored. The question Wednesday night left the local council in the uncomfortable but familiar position of being "damned if they do and damned if they don't."

In a squeaker of a decision, the council, or what was left of it after two members declared a conflict of interest, decided it would be best to take the flack for doing something.

Many downtown areas in numerous small communities across Canada have experienced the same trauma, (although we think the impact projected by some might be a touch on the extreme side). Other communities have either been prepared to meet the challenge from outside their core area or have risen to the occasion to match the competition.

Unfortunately, the time for preparing has now been lost.

One of the basic tenets of the business world is to stay ahead of, or at least equal to, your competition. That means, if your business is located in the downtown area, pressing the local council to lead the way in redevelopment. Bright lighting, sidewalks, nearby off-street parking — these are all elements that play a part in making the downtown a pleasant and inviting place to shop.

For the sake of the community as a whole the municipality should have prepared a plan indicating desirable areas for all forms of growth, industrial, residential and commercial.

However, not only should the merchants be pressing the municipal government to act, they should be taking action on their own. It is a generally accepted fact that no individual is more fiercely independent than an independent businessperson, but there are times when the common good requires compromise.

The municipal government and the consumer will rally to the support of businesses that are putting forth an effort to make their shopping area an appealing place to be. Shoppers are attracted by a positive attitude on the part of businessmen. Complaining about what the other person is doing to lure away customers will result in few returns.

While the downtown merchants now find themselves playing "catch-up" baseball, there is no reason to believe that the fight is lost or should be abandoned. An attractive, vibrant, downtown shopping area takes a great deal of hard work and planning. It requires the participation of the merchants, the municipal government and, on occasion, the provincial government to make it work. We believe the merchant community in Minden can do it and now is the time to prove it.

Minden downtown merchants have been faced with what many consider to be a serious challenge. How well they respond will have a bearing on the viability of the core area of the community now, and for many years to come.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

On February 12, Stuart Smith released a study which he had commissioned on fuel alcohol, or methanol, which may well be the most practical and desirable alternative for our future oil requirements, particularly with respect to transportation fuel, which accounts for almost 50% of our crude oil requirements each year.

Despite research and development on such alternatives as battery-power, hydrogen, and coal gasification, it is clear that for the foreseeable future, there will be no practical or ready alternative to the automotive internal combustion engine requiring liquid fuel. Therefore, the objective must be to find a liquid fuel which can replace gasoline. For Ontario, that may well be methanol. Its potential for meeting our needs and providing economic benefits is almost staggering.

Methanol can be produced from any material containing carbon or hydrocarbon. In Ontario, the most abundant sources are wood, municipal garbage, farm crops — all of which are renewable — and lignite and peat. Whatever its source, methanol can be used either as an additive, or as an eventual substitute for gasoline. It can even be made into synthetic gasoline. It's a natural liquid, burns cleanly and is biodegradable.

Of course, methanol does have some disadvantages. Like gasoline, it is poisonous; therefore safeguards would be necessary during its distribution and retail. It is also a corrosive substance, although this problem would largely be overcome in the methanol-gasoline blend situation, or by adapting engine parts in a 100%-use situation.

The fact of the matter is that — today — we could fill our cars with a blend of 10% methanol-to-gasoline, and our cards would run as well as or better than they do now. That substitution alone would cut our oil requirements by 4% a year. A gradual conversion to 100% methanol use would reduce our oil consumption by a full 35%. If the commitment to development and distribution of methanol were made now, we could make gasoline totally unnecessary as a transportation fuel by the turn of the century, according to the Liberal study.

More than half our methanol production could be derived from our huge resources of wood waste — chips and branches left behind or burned off by our forest industries, unused trees, poplar plantations already in an experimental stage in Eastern Ontario. These are renewable supplies, and the problem of resource depletion would not arise. Wood requirements for methanol could be reduced by about 60% if hydrogen were applied as feedstock to the production process. This could be produced on-site by electrolysis of water (an Ontario-designed technology) using Ontario Hydro's own off-peak or surplus power capacity. Including hydrogen capability in a methanol plant would require larger capital costs, but since wood accounts for almost 40% of the cost of production, and hydrogen would reduce the demand for wood by 60%, it is an extremely viable option.

Almost 60% of the solid waste generated by our municipalities is a potential source of methanol. Furthermore, Ontario has huge resources of lignite in the North, which could supply a methanol plant for more than thirty years. While peat and farm crops may only serve to support local fuel alcohol requirements, they cannot be overlooked.

It's estimated that a commercial-scale plant would require $200 million capital start-up costs ($350 million if hydrogen production were included). This cost compares favourably with the expected cost of the next syn crude plant on the basis of net energy delivered, and is far more cost-efficient than the electric power to which such a massive commitment has been made.

There would be economic side benefits to methanol production on a large scale. Even a modest program of 13 commercial-size methanol plants could produce more than 20,000 jobs and almost $300 million in salaries which would be spent and taxed in Ontario.

Conversion to methanol would produce a significant improvement in our environment. The main exhaust product of methanol is water vapour, so air pollution would be greatly reduced. Municipal waste disposal problems would be, to a large degree, solved. Our forests would be replenished and improved.

Clearly we cannot go on depending on dwindling supplies of oil. Nor can we afford to wait, and find that, sooner or later, we have to import our own supplies of alternative fuels from countries which saw the need and took action before we did. Consideration should be given to a methanol development program, designed to replace all gasoline used in this province. The program could include joint funding by the federal and provincial governments, to build at least one commercial-scale wood residue methanol plant in Ontario, and then small-scale municipal waste plants. Eventually, a Crown Company — the Ontario Methanol Corporation — could be established to develop full-scale methanol production in conjunction with the private sector.

Under such a program, discussions could begin immediately with the automotive industry to affect the necessary design changes in automobile engines for use in Ontario after 1985 so that they can be compatible with both methanol and gasoline fuels.

There is no reason why methanol cannot and should not be phased into wide-scale use in this province within the next ten years. Stuart Smith has urged the Ontario Government to set aside political concerns and give this methanol proposal its serious consideration.

MTC agrees to changes

"We finally won one", was the reaction of Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt when a letter from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications was read at the February 27 meeting of the council.

He was referring to a letter which announced the intention of the ministry to change the route of highway 121 during a realignment scheduled to start this summer.

Several residents along the highway had objected to the MTC plans because it would have brought the highway close to their front doors. In addition, the land being absorbed by the highways would have meant their properties would not meet the township's standards for rural residential properties, and would have been less than one acre in size.

The landowners voiced their objections to the local council who discussed the matter with ministry representatives earlier this year. The officials agreed to take another look at the situation and have agreed with the assessment of the council that suitable land is available on the other side of the highway to accommodate the widening and straightening program.

The letter from the ministry described the changes as minor and said the increased cost could be absorbed into the project.

Increase granted

Salaried employees for the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden have received an increase in pay. The increment of 9.5% was granted during the council meeting February 27.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Do naturalists have an image problem? Apparently we do in some quarters, since the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, for whom I produce this column, occasionally has to deal with phone callers who think naturalists are those who seek their recreation in the buff!

But nudists aside, just who are Ontario naturalists? To a degree, we are all budding naturalists. Who among us has not marvelled at the colourful brilliance of a bluejay or an oriole, or paused to admire the subtle hues of autumn leaves? But like most activities, nature study has its hard-core enthusiasts, whose dedication sets the tone for the rest of us.

How can you tell if you qualify as a hard-core naturalist? Easy enough, check your symptoms. Have you ever voluntarily risen at 5 a.m. to catch the dawn chorus of birds? Gone birding at night? Or taken up bird-watching in winter? Have you begun listing your life total of birds or plants, sometimes travelling hundreds of miles to add a rarity? If so, you are well on the way to becoming a naturalist nut.

But your symptoms can show in other areas as well. Can you walk past a book sale without picking up just one more field guide, or the latest book on wildlife art? Does your library include "The Earthworms of Ontario", just in case you ever get around to looking more closely at wrigglers? (Yes, there really is such a book!)

Do you feel saddened or outraged when yet another tree-lined country road is "improved" to a state of barren efficiency? Or have you ever written your Member of Parliament or your local newspaper to urge the saving of a piece of wild Canada? If so, you're well past the point of being just a naturalist — you've become part of the hard-core elite.

Of course, not all hockey fans are Howard Cosells, and relatively few naturalists pursue their avocation with such vigor. Those who do add fire and imagination to the sport, and contribute to the general image of naturalists as interesting and provocative people. But you don't have to be a nature nut to like birds and trees and mountains. If you want to learn more about naturalists, contact the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 355 Lesmill Rd., Don Mills, Ontario, M3B 2W8.

Trucks collide - no injuries

Two 1979 model pick-up trucks collided on a curve on Kennis Lake Road, February 29, causing $2500 damage to the northbound truck and $1300 to the southbound vehicle.

Dennis Byers, 33, of Haliburton who was travelling north, and Clarence Sellars, 52, of Scarborough who was southbound both escaped the accident without reportable injuries.

Constable Mike Legge investigated the incident.

Impaired driving mishap

George Godfrey, 59, of Huntsville was charged with impaired driving after the 1973 pick-up truck he was driving went off the road and rolled onto its side after entering the ditch. The incident occurred on Highway 121 in the Haliburton area on February 25.

The pick-up truck sustained $1000 damage while Godfrey was uninjured.

Constable Ron Buchanan was the investigating officer.

St. Peter's Road

St. Peter's Road in the Maple Lake area was the scene of an accident involving a 1976 car driven by Margaret Dunouden, 20, of Haliburton and a 1977 van driven by Joe Banks, 21, also a Haliburton

Council protests bill

One member of Lutterworth Township council described it as "a fundamental hosing", while another councillor suggested that it was time the township looked for another engineering firm.

The item which raised the hackles of the councillors was a bill from the consulting engineers, Totten, Sims, Hubicki of Willowdale for work on the Rackety Creek Culvert that, councillors said, was 300 percent over the estimated costs.

Councillor Bill Prentice noted that the engineering firm was close when they estimated the actual construction costs of the bridge and culvert. "If they can come that close on construction costs, you think they should be right on with their own fees."

Councillor Allan Stott said that the original submission from the engineering firm had only been an estimate and that there was no way they could be held to that figure. Deputy Reeve Glynn Lewis commented, "Perhaps we can't hold them to that figure, but we can let them know how we feel about this."

Councillor Bill Prentice suggested that the council start looking for another engineering firm for future projects.

The engineering company had estimated their cost of the project which was carried out in 1979 to be $4075. While there is still some work to be carried out, the total engineering bill is now $9240 and the municipality expects to receive further billings from the company. The entire project was estimated to cost $40,000.

The council has requested that the engineering firm supply an explanation for the costs recorded on their billing for the project.

The Dunouden vehicle was travelling north and Bank's van southbound when the two cars met on the sharp curve. Dunouden's vehicle sustained $650 while the van driven by Banks was hit for $300 damage.

Banks was charged with failure to share one-half of the roadway.

The accident was investigated by Constable Jim Solway.

Reynolds road

Although no firm decision has been taken the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council appears to have dropped the possibility of applying for development road funds to construct a Reynolds Road by-pass. The matter was discussed at the February 27 meeting of the council.

MTC representative Don Glashan was on hand for the meeting. He told the councillors that provincial funding for roads classed as "development roads" had been reduced from 100% to 90% and 80% in some cases. The representative said that although there is a traffic problem on the road, part of the problem could be solved by improved signing. He pointed out that speed signs at either end of the roadway indicate two different limits.

Glashan said that excessive speeding appears to be caused by summer residents. He said that warning signs stating "winding road ahead" and other caution notes might help to reduce the speed of the traffic.

The council was told that funding for development roads had been allocated for the coming year and that the municipality should weigh its own priorities before applying for the money. Councillors are studying the possibility of improving the MacArthur Road between Highway 35 at the Highlands Motel, to Allsaw, a distance of about two miles.

OPEN SATURDAYS

Sometimes a great notion needs help getting in motion.

IF YOUR ORGANIZATION HAS A PROJECT WORTH DOING THIS SUMMER, THE SUMMER YOUTH EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM WILL HELP PAY FOR STUDENTS TO HELP GET IT DONE.

Does your organization qualify?
Established, non-profit organizations and local governments may qualify to receive financial assistance to hire students.

What projects should you consider?
To qualify, projects should employ at least three students for six to 18 weeks between the 5th of May and the 5th of September. Proposals must be of benefit to student participants and should be of lasting value to the community.

What students will be employed?
Post-secondary or secondary students intending to return to school in the fall, who are Canadian citizens or permanent residents are eligible.
The Summer Youth Employment

Program will make a contribution towards wages at the level of the provincial minimum wage. In addition, the Program contributes employee benefits and up to $20. per person per week to cover project overhead costs.

Where do you go from here?
Information and project proposal application forms are available at Canada Employment Centres or Employment Development Branch offices.

Deadline for project proposals is March 28.
To receive financial assistance to hire students, proposals must be submitted (post-marked) no later than March 28. Of course, it is to your organization's advantage to submit its application as early as possible, but March 28 is the final deadline. Now's the time to get that summer project off the ground.

Huskies lead series 2 - 1

The Haliburton Huskies played smart back-checking defensive hockey games at home on February 26 and March 1 to defeat the Bancroft Jets by scores of 4-3 and 8-3. In Bancroft on February 29 the Huskies failed to stick to the successful defensive game and were downed 10-7 by the powerful Jets.

Haliburton has shown effectively in the series against Bancroft that they are not a first period team. The Jets have skated onto the ice to begin the second period ahead of the Huskies by at least one goal in the three play-off games completed. The story began in the first game of the series at Haliburton that saw a close defensive first-period end with Bancroft ahead 1-0.

There was no scoring in the second period, as much of the play occurred between the two blue-lines, and in the penalty box.

Both clubs started the third period looking as if they had just given three-quarters of their blood to the Red-Cross. Despite the players exhaustion it was a six goal third period.

After Paul Tomlin had put

Mike Scheffee and Chris Hodgson raise their arms in triumph and the linesman signals Haliburton's first goal of their 8-3 trouncing of the Bancroft Jets on Saturday night. Brian Lloyd, wearing the white uniform in the pile-up in front of the net, was the goal-scorer. Scheffee and Hodgson got the assists.

Bancroft in front 2-0 twenty-eight seconds into the final period the Huskies looked to be in even worse shape.

The unexpected occurred when the Huskies slipped three goals in succession past Bancroft goaltender McCormack. After Ed Roberts had put Bancroft in the Huskies sights Andy Salvatori scored twice. The first was a Steve Davies rebound that Salvatori put away and the second was a back-hand shot over McCormack's glove-hand also set up by Davies.

With Haliburton ahead 3-2 the Jets began to put on tremendous pressure, and with just under four minutes left in the game Bancroft's hard work paid off. Mark Laundry let a blistering drive go from the point that went through the back of the net. The game continued while Laundry went to the bench to discuss the situation with his coach. Soon afterward Bancroft asked that the mesh on the Haliburton net be checked. To Haliburton's dismay there was a hole in the net where the puck allegedly hit and the Jets were awarded their third and tying goal.

Mike Scheffee was in no mood to be shown up by an opposing defenceman. With 1:52 left in the game Scheffee ripped a shot from the point that hand-cuffed McCormack, and struck the left-hand top-corner of the net to give the Huskies the 4-3 victory and a one game to none lead in the semi-final series.

In the second game of the series the Huskies were crushed 10-7 by Bancroft in an evening that saw eleven goals scored in the second period, including four goals in a forty-three second span.

The first period was a defensive struggle much like the first game in the series. At the end of the opening frame Bancroft was in front by a score of 2-0.

The Jets added two more goals by the 5:03 mark of the second period to give them a 4-0 lead, and put the Haliburton squad on the run.

Kevin O'Hara blasted the puck behind the Bancroft goaltender at the 7:59 mark to put the Huskies back in firing range.

Just over a minute later game.

Brian Laundry wrapped up the 10-7 Bancroft victory :40 before the final buzzer.

The Jets took the early lead once again as they bounced in front of Haliburton 3-2 as the first period came to an end.

Randy Fransky backhanded the puck into the Haliburton net to give the Jets a 1-0 lead fifty-six seconds into the game. Haliburton tied the game at the 3:59 mark and the teams traded goals again before the period ended with Bancroft's Brad Mac Connel having the last word with fifty-eight seconds left in the period.

Joe Roberts, Chris Hodgson, and Steve Davies, three Huskie hot-shots, pressed the Haliburton club onto victory with goals in the second frame that put them ahead 5-3. Craig Wood played a supreme period of goaltending to shut-down the frustrated Bancroft snipers.

The offensive high-light of the second period was Steve Davies' break-a-way. Davies accepted a pass from Dave Brown while on the fly and broke in on McCormack. He gave the Jet goalie a head-fake then tucked the puck into the top left-hand corner of the net just over McCormack's outstretched glove.

Craig Wood muffled the few scoring chances the Haliburton defence allowed Bancroft, while Chris Hodgson, Andy Salvatori and Dave Brown all connected for the home-team to give the Huskies a convincing 8-3 win.

Green Thumb Corner

With the winter nip in the air it may not seem that spring is far off, but a quick glance at the calendar shows the warmer weather is just around the corner. With thoughts of spring come plans for gardening and lawn care.

To help gardeners get ready for the coming season, The Times introduces a new feature this week, Green Thumb Corner. From now until the seeds are finally sown, we will be presenting a series of articles prepared by experts in the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and the University of Guelph. Topics will include details on how to grow a new lawn, arranging flower beds and successful vegetable gardening, among others.

We know gardeners, both veterans and beginners, will find these columns enjoyable and informative. As usual, your comments are always welcome.

We start our Green Thumb Corner series with an article by Ian D. W. Smith, an extension horticulturalist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. If there is one vegetable that every gardener wants to grow, it has to be the tomato. Here are some tips on cultivating a bumper crop.

Everyone's favourite

Tomatoes are the most popular vegetable grown in home gardens. A few tomato plants grown even in small areas, such as fence corners or along a patio, can produce several pounds of fresh fruit, with proper care.

Unless your garden is large, and you have a small greenhouse for growing your own plants from seed, it is usually best to buy plants from a reputable grower or garden center. Look for healthy, well-colored, stocky plants, entirely free from suspected disease symptoms, such as mottled-green leaves, or leaves with black or brown spots. Remove any small fruits or open blossoms before planting, otherwise, plant vigor and fruit production will suffer.

There are many varieties from which to choose. If you do not intend to stake your plants, plant determinate (bush-type) varieties. Examples are Springset and Starfire (early), Basketvee (a new variety from Vineland), and Jetfire.

Where space is limited, plant staking varieties. These require more attention, but can be planted closer. They usually produce larger, earlier, cleaner fruit when they are staked. There are many varieties, such as Vogue and Gardener (early), and hybrids, such as Ultra Girl, Better Boy, or Wonder Boy.

Some varieties produce small fruit, paste-type fruit, and pink tomatoes. Try to select varieties adapted to your growing conditions, with resistance to as many diseases as possible.

Before planting, apply a complete fertilizer, such as 15-15-15, at 10 kilograms per 100 square metres (20 pounds per 1000 square feet).

If manure has been applied, use 5-10-10, at about 12 to 15 kilograms per 100 square metres (25 to 30 pounds per 1000 square feet). Apply half the amount before planting time, and work it thoroughly into the soil. The remainder can be used as a side-dressing around the plants, a few weeks after planting. Soils for tomatoes should also contain a good supply of organic matter.

Set your plants in warm, well-prepared soil. Wait until all danger of frost is past before planting. Don't risk frost injury or slow growth just for the sake of earliness. When transplanting, be careful not to disturb the roots, and set the plants about 5 centimetres (a couple of inches) deeper than they were in the original container. Press the soil firmly around the roots, and then apply a cupful of liquid fertilizer or plant-starter solution around each plant. For staked tomatoes, space plants 30 to 35 centimetres apart (12 to 18 inches), in rows 105 to 120 centimetres apart (42 to 48 inches).

Get rid of weeds when they are small. Practise shallow cultivation, because feeding roots develop near the soil surface, and can be damaged easily by hoeing or cultivating too deeply.

After plants are well established (3 to 4 weeks after planting), they can be mulched with clean straw, wood shavings, compost, or other suitable materials. Mulching helps to control weeds, conserves moisture, and keeps the soil cooler during hot weather.

Since summer rains do not normally supply all the water requirements of tomatoes, periodic watering is necessary. Apply enough water to wet the soil at least 12 to 15 centimetres deep (5 to 6 inches). Inadequate or fluctuating soil moisture is the main cause of blossom-end rot, characterized by a black, decayed area at the bottom of the fruit.

For home use, don't harvest tomatoes until they are fully ripe. Artificial ripening results in loss of flavor.

To reduce losses from diseases practise rotation, if possible; use disease-resistant varieties; plant healthy plants; promote fast drying of wet plants by providing adequate spacing and sunlight; control weeds; and spray or dust regularly using a recommended fungicide to help prevent leaf blight and fruit rots.

For detailed information, refer to Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food publication 64, Insect and Disease Control in the Home Garden. This booklet is available free at county and district agricultural offices.

Gardeners interested in exchanging information with other hoe and shovel people should consider joining the Minden Horticultural Society. Those interested should contact Irene Moore.

The Minden Midgets, the only Minden team to make it into the All-Ontario play-offs, were victorious 4-2 in Warsaw February 26 in their first game of the quarter-finals against the home-team, then were defeated 4-3 by Warsaw in Minden on Saturday in the second game of the series.

Terry Allore was in the spot-light much of the game as he scored three of Minden's four goals to lead the team to their two goal victory. Ron Yake netted the other Minden goal.

Warsaw quickly took the edge in their 4-3 victory against Minden by scoring 53 and 4:37 into the game.

Harold Porter, Andy Pristol and Kevin Shapiera put Minden into a 3-2 lead, by scoring singles in the second period.

Warsaw held Minden off the score sheet for the remainder of the game and scored twice including the winning goal with 10:46 left in the match to squeeze by Minden 4-3.

Andrew Shapiera led Minden's eight goal out-burst against Ennismore by scoring four with teammates Larry Miscio netting a hat-trick and Terry Groves adding the single.

Shapiera hit the target four times against Cannington to pile-up his goal production total to thirteen in the first three games of the consolation round-robin series.

David Lee and Aaron Hie both scored twice to pace Minden on to victory.

Lorne Greer shut-out the Haliburton club for the fourth time in as many games.

Novice

Joey Boyle and Scott Russell scored early in the third period for Minden to break a close game open and give Minden the 4-2 victory over Haliburton (Team II). The game was played in Minden on Saturday March 1, and was the first of a best-of-five play-off series between the two clubs.

Haliburton jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead with goals from the sticks of Dean Bronson and Paul Goulet 2:39 and 2:44 into the game.

Scott Russell and Jeff Francis got the goals back for Minden at 5:26 and 8:19 of the first period.

A scoreless second period set the stage for an exciting finish with Minden on-top 4-2 as the game came to a close.

Minden shut-out Omemece 4-0 in Minden on Saturday March 1, in a consolation round-robin match.

Scott Russell netted three goals for the winning side while Jason Stamp added an unassisted goal to complete the Minden victory.

Joseph McDivitt proudly displays the 6 pound and 12 1/2 pound trout he pulled out of Boshkung Lake February 23. McDivitt was ice-fishing from a hut owned by the Clansman Motel. He used a minnow to catch the smaller fish, and nabbed the larger trout by using a previously caught herring as bait.

Grant awarded

Mr. Peter F. Hulsman was the recipient of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters $1000 Molson Research Grant in Sports Fisheries.

Hulsman, an Honours B. Sc. graduate of the University of Guelph, will be able to conduct both laboratory and field studies on the effects of acid rain on the reproductive cycle of the yellow pickerel (walleye) with the help of the grant.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters in announcing the award said that "acid rain is the most serious and urgent environmental problem we face today." Hulsman's studies in the Haliburton-Muskoka area should produce information that would help to improve the quality of the walleye angling in Ontario.

Pee wees outgun No-stars in fun match

by Peter Puck

The Minden arena was the site of a benefit hockey game between the O.M.H.A. Pee-Wee All-Stars and the Orange Machine No-Stars on Saturday. The Pee-Wee All-Stars had little trouble handling the No-Stars 12-7 in a game played in aid of family love and fitness.

The All-Stars made the scoresheet early in the first frame as Mike blasted the puck past a shaky Ross Palmateer (sorry Mr. Ballard) and they never looked back.

Jeff, Greg, John, "Tiny" Paul, Peter, Sean, Paul and Glenn each scored at least one goal to lead the All-Stars to victory.

Andrew guarded the All-Star net from such notables as Gene Lafuer, Hugh McDonald, Neil Potvin, Pete Gretzky, Jim Trottier, Don Clarke, Tom Perreault, Terry Salming and Rod Sittler.

With only a few minutes remaining in the game the No-Stars lost their cool and turned the game into a wrestling match. Referees Scotty "Yip" Morrison and Colin Hood were quick to restore order.

After the game, coach Ross Neilson said that he was "pleased" with the All-Stars performance and that he sees "long-term contracts coming their way in the near future."

Look-out Canadiens, here they come!

Roberts shares top goal-scoring honours

Joe Roberts, the captain of the Haliburton Huskies, and Craig Wood, the Huskies' goaltender, took home awards for their outstanding play during the thirty-game regular schedule of the OHA Junior "D" league. The awards were given to the players before the start of the play-off hockey game on Saturday night between Haliburton and Bancroft.

Roberts tied Randy Fransky of Bancroft for the league scoring title, as both players terrified opposing goaltenders with 87 points each. Fransky was the winner in the goal department, as he netted 44 goals over the course of the season, and added 43 assists. Roberts, who was unquestionably the heart of the Huskies, assisted on 54 of Haliburton's 174 goals during the 1979-80 season to earn himself the top spot in the assist department. The Huskies' captain earned 33 goals, the second highest total on his team, to reach the 87 point mark.

Craig Wood captured the trophy for the most valuable goaltender to his team. Wood's award was well deserved, in that his sparkling glove-hand catches and sprawling saves often lifted the Haliburton club's spirit when they needed it most.

Wood played eighteen of the Huskies thirty games allowing 92 goals to earn himself a respectable 5.11 goals against average.

The Rotary Exchange student Jean Paul Dispaux whose home is near Brussels, Belgium, has been visiting various members of the club. On the weekend of February 24 and for 10 days his sister Anne Dispaux who is teaching French and Bridgette Dessy who is teaching English at New Orleans schools, were visitors in our area. The student from here is Lorraine Perry and this is the first time that there has been a direct exchange as she was staying with the Dispaux family in Belgium.

Weekend guests with the Harold Coulter were Bev and George Johnson and Earl of Barry's Bay, the Bill Callows of Huntsville and the Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Coulter and granddaughter Amber of Kirkfield.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Mrs. Arnold Reynolds and Bud Mansfield who died since last week.

Got an unpleasant task to do? Don't do it by and by. Begin it now, don't put it off-- And here's the reason why. You won't enjoy it - then what fun. When you can say "That task is done!"

We understand those who went on the Horticultural District Bus Trip last Wednesday had a very pleasant time and were truly delighted with the Flower Show.

Carol and Danny Francis and Danielle of Oshawa visited his mother Clara Francis and other relatives over the weekend.

Weekend guest with his mother Mrs. Harry Welch was son Ron of Frankford and she also was talking by telephone to her son Gerald in Florida.

Gerald Coulter of Toronto enjoyed a visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter last weekend.

At the weekly Mini Card Party at St. Paul's Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon, winners were for cribbage Isobel Harrison and Norah Briggs and for euchre lone hands Marjorie Coulter and Lil Davidson (on a cut) and Lil Porter.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Fred Wright was in our local hospital and all her friends send her good wishes.

An old Arab saying "A real friend is a person to whom you can bring the contents of your heart, and empty them out, chaff and grain together. The gentlest hands will then take it and sift it, keeping hold of what is worth holding and gently blowing the rest away." How many of us can be sure that our friends could say this about us?

There will be free skating at the arena presented by the Nursery Play School March 6 and 13 from 2 - 3 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sears and family of Oshawa spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. M. Sears.

Noticed in last Friday's Toronto Star in the feature "It Happened In Canada", about a resident Mrs. James Hewitt. You might like to check and see this item.

There was a successful Leap Year Card Party at the Hyland Crest on the 29th with a large crowd enjoying their favourite game. Many people received prizes and also door prizes and all enjoyed the delicious lunch. Winner of the afghan made and donated by Lil Rawlins was Chris Dollo.

The Library Culture Centre meeting will be at the Municipal Hall upstairs on March 10th at 8. Also, we notice this group are selling tickets on an afghan and braided rug, draw to be March 30.

Has been very cold this past while with below zero temperatures, guess we are getting our Christmas weather now. The highways seem very bumpy so drive carefully. Cheerio until next time.

Rumours denied

According to a Minden OPP report released on March 3, 1980, "Rumours circulating in the area in regards to various charges relating to Mr. and/or Mrs. Larry Medley of Haliburton have no basis in fact. There is absolutely no truth to the stories."

The winners advanced to the district competition on Sunday at Fenelon Falls Legion.

The judges of the contest were Mrs. G. Watson, a retired teacher of Burnt River, Mrs. D. Kearns, presently a teacher, and Mr. T. Kearns of the English Department at the Fenelon Falls Secondary School.
